

Global
Entrepreneurship
Monitor

BABSON
COLLEGE

Global Entrepreneurship Monitor

2021/2022 Global Report

Opportunity Amid Disruption

UNITED ARAB EMIRATES
MINISTRY OF ECONOMY

الهيئة العامة للتطوير الاقتصادي
State Panel for Economic Development

Cartier
WOMEN'S INITIATIVE

HAUTE ÉCOLE DE GESTION
HOCHSCHULE FÜR WIRTSCHAFT
SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

Fribourg
Freiburg

AUTHORS

GEM Global

Professor Stephen Hill, DSc (Lead Author)

Aileen Ionescu-Somers, PhD

Professor Alicia Coduras, PhD

GEM Chile

Professor Maribel Guerrero, PhD, Universidad del Desarrollo, Chile

GEM Saudi Arabia

Professor Muhammad Azam Roomi, PhD, Prince Mohammed Bin Salman College of Business and Entrepreneurship

GEM UK

Professor Niels Bosma, PhD, Utrecht University School of Economics

Professor Sreevas Sahasranamam, PhD, University of Strathclyde, Glasgow

GEM USA

Professor Jeffrey Shay, PhD, Babson College

In collaboration with GEM National Teams, the GEM Global Data Team – Forrest Wright, Francis Carmona and Alicia Coduras – produced the Economy Profiles in Part 2 and all figures and tables, while Kevin Anselmo produced the Entrepreneur Profiles used throughout the report.

Although GEM data were used in the preparation of this report, the interpretation and use of the data are the sole responsibility of the authors.

Published by the Global Entrepreneurship Research Association, London Business School, Regents Park, London NW1 4SA, UK

ISBN: 978-1-9160178-9-4 (print)

Please cite as: GEM (Global Entrepreneurship Monitor) (2022). Global Entrepreneurship Monitor 2021/2022 Global Report: Opportunity Amid Disruption. London: GEM.

Cover image:

iStock.com/Maria Stavreva

Design and production:

Witchwood Production House <http://www.witchwoodhouse.com>

BBR Design <https://bbrdesign.co.uk>

© 2022 The authors and the Global Entrepreneurship Research Association (GERA)

Contents

Key GEM Definitions and Abbreviations	6	Part 1 Analysis	21
Acknowledgements	8	1. What Is GEM?	22
Foreword	9	1.1 A brief introduction to GEM	22
About GEM	11	1.2 Why is entrepreneurship important?	22
Executive Summary	13	1.3 How are GEM data collected?	25
Has the pandemic reduced household incomes?	14	1.4 Which economies participated in GEM's 2021 research?	27
Do attitudes affect levels of entrepreneurship?	14	1.5 What is the impact of COVID-19?	28
Has the pandemic made it more difficult to start a business?	15	1.6 Conclusions	29
Has the pandemic reduced the level of entrepreneurial activity?	15	2. What Does It Mean to Be an Entrepreneur?	31
Will these new businesses employ many people?	15	2.1 Why do attitudes matter?	31
Are entrepreneurs changing how they do business?	16	2.2 What do you know about starting a business?	31
Who is most likely to start a new business?	16	2.3 Who can start a business?	34
Do young people have different motivations from older people for starting a business?	17	2.4 How do entrepreneurs see the impact of the pandemic?	36
Are people exiting their businesses because of the coronavirus pandemic?	17	2.5 How socially and environmentally responsible are the entrepreneurs?	39
Where are the most supportive places to start a business?	17	2.6 Conclusions	41
Key Thoughts for Policymakers from the GEM 2021/2022 Global Report Authors	19	3. Which Places Have the Most Entrepreneurial Activity?	43
		3.1 How can entrepreneurship be measured?	43
		3.2 Where are entrepreneurial activity rates highest?	43
		3.3 Do wealthier economies have higher rates of entrepreneurial activity?	45
		3.4 How has the pandemic influenced entrepreneurship levels?	47
		3.5 Which sectors are most popular for starting a business?	49
		3.6 Do new businesses expect to employ many people?	50
		3.7 Are new businesses innovative?	51
		3.8 Conclusions	53

4. Who Are the Entrepreneurs?

- 4.1 Introduction: diversity in action
- 4.2 Are younger people more likely to start a business?
- 4.3 Are men more likely than women to start a new business and more likely to run an established business?
- 4.4 Are graduates more likely than non-graduates to start a new business?
- 4.5 Can employees be entrepreneurial?
- 4.6 Conclusions

5. Why Start (or Stop) a Business?

- 5.1 Introduction
- 5.2 How do entrepreneurs see prospects for growth?
- 5.3 Why start a business anyway?
- 5.4 Does motivation vary with age?
- 5.5 Why stop (or exit) a business?
- 5.6 Conclusions

55	Part 2 National Contexts and Economy Profiles	83
56	Introduction: The Entrepreneurship Context	85
60	Context and where we are now	85
63	Are entrepreneurial framework conditions strong in most economies?	86
64	How can the entrepreneurial context be summed-up?	89
67	Conclusions	91
69	Economy Profiles	92
70
70	Part 3 Appendix Tables	193
73
77	GEM Indicators	194
80
	GEM Global Sponsor	226
	Report Sponsors	226

Figures

Figure 1.1	The GEM Conceptual Framework	23
Figure 1.2	The entrepreneurial process and GEM indicators	26
Figure 1.3	The impact of the pandemic on household income	29
Figure 2.1	Knowing someone who has started a business in the past two years (% adults)	32
Figure 2.2	In the next three months, there will be good opportunities to start a business in my area (% adults agree or strongly agree)	33
Figure 2.3	In my country, it is easy to start a business (% adults agree or strongly agree)	33
Figure 2.4	I personally have the knowledge, skills and experience to start a new business (% adults agree or strongly agree)	35
Figure 2.5	There are good opportunities, but I would not start a business for fear it might fail (% of those adults seeing good opportunities)	35
Figure 2.6	Are you expecting to start a business in the next three years? (% adults yes)	36
Figure 2.7	The proportion of those starting a new business who think doing so is somewhat or much more difficult than one year ago (% of Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity [TEA])	37
Figure 2.8	The proportion of those starting a new business who somewhat/strongly agree that the pandemic has led to new opportunities they wish to pursue, and the proportion of those running an established business who are pursuing such opportunities (% of Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity [TEA] and % of Established Business Ownership [EBO])	38
Figure 2.9	The proportion of those starting or running a new business, or running an established business, who expect to use more digital technologies to sell their products or services in the next six months (% of Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity [TEA] and % of Established Business Ownership [EBO])	39
Figure 2.10	When making decisions about the future of my business, I always consider social implications (somewhat/strongly agree, % of Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity [TEA] and % of Established Business Ownership [EBO])	40
Figure 2.11	When making decisions about the future of your business, I always consider environmental implications (somewhat/strongly agree, % of Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity [TEA] and % of Established Business Ownership [EBO])	40
Figure 3.1	Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity (TEA) and Established Business Ownership (EBO) (both % adults)	44
Figure 3.2	Levels of Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity (TEA, % adults) and GDP per capita, 2021	45
Figure 3.3	Levels of Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity (% TEA) in 2019, 2020 and 2021	47
Figure 3.4	Levels of Established Business Ownership (% EBO) in 2019, 2020 and 2021	48
Figure 3.5	Business Services and Consumer Services as a percentage of Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity (TEA)	49
Figure 3.6	Job growth expectations among early-stage entrepreneurs expecting to employ 0, 1–5 or 6 or more people in five years' time (% adults)	50
Figure 3.7	The percentage of adults both starting or running a new business and anticipating 25% or more of revenue from outside their country	51

Figure 3.8	The proportion of adults starting or running a new business with products or services that are new to their area, their country or the world (% adults)	52
Figure 3.9	The proportion of adults starting or running a new business with technologies or procedures that are new to their area, their country or the world (% adults)	53
Figure 4.1	The level of Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity (TEA) for adults aged 18–34 and for those aged 35–64 (% of adults in each age group)	56
Figure 4.2	The relative entrepreneurial age gap (Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity [TEA] for adults aged 18–34, divided by TEA for adults aged 35–64)	59
Figure 4.3	Scatter plot of Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity (TEA) rates for ages 18–34 and 35–64	59
Figure 4.4	Levels of Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity (TEA) by gender (% women and % men)	60
Figure 4.5	The relative gender gap: female Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity (TEA) (% women) divided by male TEA (% men)	62
Figure 4.6	Established Business Ownership (EBO) rates by gender (% women and % men)	62
Figure 4.7	Levels of Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity (TEA) for graduates and non-graduates (% TEA graduates and % TEA non-graduates)	64
Figure 4.8	Employee Entrepreneurial Activity (EEA) (% adults)	66
Figure 4.9	The proportion of entrepreneurial employees who agree/strongly agree that the pandemic has led to new business opportunities that are being pursued (% Employee Entrepreneurial Activity [EEA])	66
Figure 5.1	The proportion of those starting or running a new business and reporting somewhat or much lower growth expectations than a year ago (% Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity [TEA])	70
Figure 5.2	Motivations “To make a difference in the world” and “To build great wealth or very high income”: somewhat/strongly agree as % Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity (TEA)	71
Figure 5.3	Motivations “To continue a family tradition” and “To earn a living because jobs are scarce”: somewhat/strongly agree as % Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity (TEA)	71
Figure 5.4	Motivation “To make a difference in the world”: % Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity (TEA) of those aged 18–34 minus % TEA of those aged 35–64	74
Figure 5.5	Motivation “To build great wealth”: % Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity (TEA) of those aged 18–34 minus % TEA of those aged 35–64	74
Figure 5.6	Motivation “To continue a family tradition”: % Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity (TEA) of those aged 18–34 minus % TEA of those aged 35–64	75
Figure 5.7	Motivation “To earn a living because jobs are scarce”: % Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity (TEA) of those aged 18–34 minus % TEA of those aged 35–64	75
Figure 5.8	Scatter plot of business exits and Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity (both % adults)	78
Figure 5.9	The ratio of Total early-stage Entrepreneurial Activity (TEA) to business exits (both % adults)	79
Figure 5.10	The level of business exits, divided into positive, negative or pandemic-related reasons (all % adults)	80
Figure 6.1	Number (out of 13) of Entrepreneurial Framework Conditions (EFCs) scored as sufficient per economy	88
Figure 6.2	National Entrepreneurship Context Index (NECI), 2021	90