Introduction and Background

1. Introduction

NUGEL is a joint venture company of NGEL (subsidiary of NTPC) & UPRVUNL (State owned GENCO of Uttar Pradesh). The company was incorporated on 01.01.2025 with the objective of establishing Solar projects up to 2 GW in the state of UP. NUGEL shall spearhead the green business initiatives of NTPC in the state of Uttar Pradesh and undertake projects that complement NTPC's broader green energy journey towards achieving the ambitious target of 60 GW renewable capacity by FY 2032.

The first project shall be 100 MW Solar PV Project integrated with 50 MW/200 MWh BESS located in the state of UP, ensuring reliable supply and ensured peak power availability.

The project will be STU-connected to the nearest UPPTCL substation, enabling robust grid integration and reliable evacuation of power.

This initiative supports:

- Uttar Pradesh's renewable energy roadmap.
- Industrial and commercial consumers seeking sustainable power solutions.
- Participation of power aggregators to broaden access for smaller industries.
- National objectives of energy transition and storage-backed renewables.

The proposed 100 MW Solar project of NUGEL with 50% BESS / 200 MWh is intended to supply power during both solar hours and non-solar hours with firm, dispatchable power supply during non-solar hours, allowing industries and commercial establishments to reliably meet their peak demand requirements. By storing surplus solar energy generated during the day and releasing it during evening or high-demand periods, the project ensures assured power availability at affordable tariffs, reducing dependence on costly grid power or backup diesel generation. This hybrid solar-plus-storage configuration not only enhances grid stability but also offers buyers the flexibility of renewable energy support, making it an attractive and future-ready solution for sustainable industrial growth in Uttar Pradesh.
